Overture Adds Three New Schools to Payment Planner in the Month of December

Bethesda, MD, December, 2007- Overture, a provider of financial aid technology solutions, announced today that three new schools are implementing Payment Planner. The schools include Five Towns College, Roberts Wesleyan College, and St. Lawrence University. Overture's Payment Planner is a customizable solution program that guides students through the process of funding their education while reducing institutional overhead.

Payment Planner will enable these three institutions to present student award letters electronically and educate students about their financial aid. Students can go online to view scholarships, grants, work study, and loan amounts for which they are eligible and accept or decline them. Payment Planner provides students access to their financial aid information around the clock.

About Five Towns College

Five Towns College has nearly 40 undergraduate and graduate programs and enrolls approximately 1,200 men and women. Approximately 68 percent of all full-time students receive some financial assistance, including Pell, FSEOG, FCWS, and the Direct Student Loan Program. The Financial Aid Office administers several million dollars of student aid, and more than one million in private grants and scholarships to deserving students each year.

About Roberts Wesleyan College

Roberts Wesleyan College offers more than 50 undergraduate programs, as well as graduate programs in education, school psychology, school counseling, counseling in ministry, social work, and management. With an enrollment of more than 1,800 students and a tradition of excellence dating back to 1866, Roberts Wesleyan is a dynamic leader among American Liberal Art Colleges with a Christian worldview. Roberts Wesleyan gives financial encouragement to promising and eligible students as far as its scholarship and other student aid funds permit. Validated financial need is considered as well as scholarship, service, leadership, and personal interests and abilities.

About St. Lawrence University

St. Lawrence University, a private four-year liberal arts college, is the oldest coeducational University in the state of New York. It has approximately 2,000 undergraduate and 100 graduate students, equally split between male and female. It was founded in 1856 by leaders of the Universalist Church, who were seeking to establish a seminary somewhere west of New England. From 2007-2008, approximately 82 percent of the student body received some form of financial aid.

About Overture Technologies

Overture Technologies provides decisioning technology that automates business policy, decisions, and workflow management in a transparent, "owned-by-the-business" manner. Established in 2000, Overture's technologies are used in many applications in both the mortgage industry and the student lending marketplace.
